

Features

- Onsite, hands-on training
- Computer-based training and web-based seminars
- Community-specific modules
- “Train the Trainer” courses
- Track achievement and completion – testing and certificates available

Customized Training Solutions

RF Technologies is committed to providing quality application training, new user courses, and refresher courses to help our customers successfully implement and optimize their solutions.

- Onsite, individualized courses are customized to the needs of your community
- Online training, tutorials, and courses allow students to learn at their own pace, on their own time

Learning Academy

Through the online Learning Academy, web-based courses can be delivered anywhere at the student’s preferred location and convenience.

- Students complete courses at their own pace
- Beneficial for shift workers or trainees who are not able to host a trainer or attend a training class
- Reduces redundant work for managers who provide new employee training
- Engaging web courses include images, text, audio and video

Track Participation and Achievement

Management can track staff and/or employee participation online. Tests and evaluation forms show the level of knowledge and skills acquired through education. Print our certificates as proof of successful course completion.

